Client profile

Buy • 715000–975000 EUR purchase

A family of three seeks to buy a home in Brussels, budget 715,000–975,000 EUR. Priorities include residential areas, family-friendliness, and access to cafes.

Must-have

- 2+ bedrooms with a spacious layout
- Access to quality schools within 20 min walk
- Quiet and safe neighborhoods suitable for kids
- Proximity to family-friendly cafes and parks

Nice-to-have

- Outdoor spaces like gardens or balconies
- Community activities for families and children
- Expats and international community presence
- Access to recreational facilities and playgrounds

Red flags

- High noise levels in busy districts
- Availability of affordable schools may be limited
- Potential for lengthy commutes in specific areas
- Budgets may restrict options in prime locations

Trade-offs

- Desire for quiet yet wish to live close to cafes
- Need for schools or childcare within walking distance against budget limits

Top-3 areas (shortlist)

1) Ixelles

Why: Features parks like Place Flagey, popular for families and activities. Offers diverse cafes and shops, fostering a vibrant expat atmosphere.

Watch-out: High property prices may exceed budget in prime areas.

Essentials to ask your Real Estate agent

- What is the total cost including taxes and fees?
- Can you provide details on the property condition and any recent works?
- What is the typical duration and terms for the lease?
- How is indexation managed on the rental agreements?
- Are there any rules related to noise or community guidelines?
